

The Garden of Grace

Morning came gently over the garden. The flowers opened wide, the bees hummed near the blossoms, and the bright sun warmed the earth. Tomatoes, herbs, and green leaves grew under God's care. I could see His kindness in every living thing. The garden was full of color, life, and quiet beauty.

As I walked between the rows, I thanked the Lord for His goodness. He gives food, breath, strength, and hope. He fills the earth with beauty and teaches my heart to trust Him. This new day felt rich with blessing, and I was glad to live in the joy of His presence and the peace of His love.
