

Morning by the River

The river moved over the stones with a clear and happy sound. Sunlight shimmered on the water, and green grass leaned along the bank. The trees stood quiet, and the morning air felt cool on my face. I saw the kindness of God in every part of the scene. His creation was bright, peaceful, and full of life from the very start of the day.

I thanked the Lord for His care and for the gift of a new morning. He had filled the earth with beauty and filled my heart with hope. I wanted to walk close to Him, obey His Word, and live in the blessing of His Spirit. By the river, I felt safe, thankful, and full of wonder at the glory of God.
