

HOMESCHOOL QUICK REFERENCE

Can I homeschool my child?

- Yes. You can teach your children in a single-family homeschool without a teaching degree or license. Compulsory attendance generally covers ages 5 to under 16.

Can I choose what to teach?

- Choose or create your curriculum. The state does not approve or prescribe materials for a single-family homeschool.

Can I choose my schedule?

- You choose how many days and hours to teach. Delaware does not set a minimum homeschool calendar.

How do I get started?

- Open your homeschool and enroll your child in the state's Nonpublic School system. Obtain the acknowledgment before withdrawing from public school.
- Report yearly attendance by July 31 and enrollment by September 30.

Is testing required?

- No required state standardized test, outside evaluation, or portfolio review. Keep the attendance information needed for your yearly report. You choose your own grading and progress records.

How Faith Schooling Makes It Easier

- Faith Readers supports K–5 reading and phonics; Grammar Garden supports language and writing; Building Number Sense provides K–5 mathematics.
- Build a K–5 literacy and math routine, then choose other subjects for your family. The Homeschool Rhythm Builder helps plan learning days, and printable practice gives you examples of your child's progress.

Official sources — click the underlined links

Official homeschool guidance

Delaware nonpublic-school reporting law

Official

Reviewed October 8, 2026 • School year 2026–2027