Kara and her dad were driving to the supermarket. On the way to the store, it started pouring rain!

·Do we have umbrellas?·

Kara asked.

·Nope!· her dad replied. ·We·ll have to make a run for it!·

The parking lot was full, so they had to park far away from the store. At the count of three, they opened the car doors and ran to the supermarket! Even though they ran quickly, they still got soaked. When they got inside the store, they looked like they had just gone swimming with their clothes on!
